THE 49ER STORY-1946-1962

From a modest beginning in 1946, the San Francisco 49ers have grown into one of the most flourishing franchises in professional sports.

A major league football franchise in the City by the Golden Gate had long been the cherished dream of Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito, a native son and 1931 graduate of the University of Santa Clara. Failing to win recognition from the National League, Tony turned to the All-America Conference, which began operations in 1946 with the late Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, as the guiding genius.

Although the AAC went under after four years of intense competition with the NFL, it proved Morabito's point that San Francisco was a major league city. Sports fans of the entire Bay Area took the 49ers to their hearts and attendance grew by the proverbial leaps and bounds.

The club's success was predicated on Tony's oft-repeated slogan of "Go first class or not at all," and his early organization was built around such honored names as Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, head coach, and Frankie Albert, Norm Standlee, Alyn Beals, Johnny Strzykalski and Len Eshmont—all of whom were already top drawing cards in collegiate and pro football.

The 49ers were the perennial runners-up to the mighty Cleveland Browns throughout the history of the ACC and, masterminded by Shaw on the bench and Albert on the field, became noted nationally for daring, colorful football. The AAC ended its short but exciting life when the Browns defeated the 49ers, 21-7, in the championship game of 1949. San Francisco, Cleveland and Baltimore became members of the NFL.

After 12 years of slam-bang battling in the NFL, the 49ers have yet to win even a divisional championship. They've come close, tying Detroit for seasonal honors in 1957 but dropping the playoff. But in every season except four—1950-55-56-58—the San Franciscans have been in the thick of the title fight. Their wild and exciting performances, along with the tremendous surge in pro football interest, have sent season ticket sales soaring from a total of 1,100 in 1946 to 35,000 for the coming race.

During the last three campaigns, Coach Howard W. (Red) Hickey has had his clubs in the middle of the bitter championship struggles until the final days of December. Red's unorthodox maneuvers, especially the Shotgun formation, have made a deep and lasting impression on football.

Here are the highlights, beginning with the first year in the NFL:

1950—The 49ers fell flat on their faces in their NFL debut, winning only three games. A rival coach described them as "not big enough or tough enough."

1951—In an amazing reversal of form sparked by a great rookie group, the 49ers were in the race to the final day and finished only a half game off the top. Led by Hardy Brown and his famed "shoulder tackle," the club had one of the toughest defensive units in the league. Y. A. Tittle and Billy Wilson began their great careers.

1952—After a blazing start, the 49ers slumped in midseason. It can't be written off as unsuccessful for Hugh (The King) McElhenney came off the University of Washington campus to become "Player of the Year" and the most feared runner in football.

1953—The 49ers had their best NFL showing, 9-3, normally good enough for a championship. But Detroit was 10-2. Two of the San Francisco losses came with Tittle benched because a severe facial injury. The three defeats were by a total of nine points. Joe (Jet) Perry became one of the few players in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Gordy Soltau was the league's top scorer for the second straight year.

1954—Early momentum was broken by injuries to key players such as Tittle, McElhenny, and Rex Berry. Perry gained more than 1,000 yards again, the first man ever to achieve this distinction.

1955—With McElhenny hobbled by a foot injury, the 49ers had their second worst season in history under Norman P. Strader who succeeded Shaw as head coach.

1956—In Albert's first year at the helm, the 49ers were bogged in last place at midseason with a 1-6 record. They won four and tied one of their last five games for a brilliant stretch drive.

1957—This undoubtedly was the most emotional and dramatic season in 49er history. Every game was a "Cliffhanger" and the "Alley-Oop" pass from Tittle to rookie R. C. Owens became a household byword. Emotions reached a peak when the beloved Tony Morabito collapsed and died of a heart attack at the Chicago Bears game on Oct. 27. Trailing, 17-7, the 49ers fought back for their greatest victory of all time, 21-17. The magnificent Wilson caught a pass from Tittle for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Tied with Detroit at 8-4 when the season ended, the 49ers lost the playoff game, 31-27, although they held a 27-7 lead in the third quarter.

1958—An up-and-down season which finished on a high note when Green Bay and Baltimore were defeated in the last two games. The 6-6 record, however, was blackened by the 33-3 and 56-7 lacings at the hands of Los Angeles and Albert resigned at the end of the year.

1959—With Hickey in charge, the 49ers were in contention all the way and John Brodie came into his own at quarterback when he led the team to a 21-20 upset of Cleveland. J. D. Smith, converted from a defensive back, became the second 49er to accumulate more than 1,000 yards rushing.

1960—Hickey saved a seemingly hopeless season when he installed his Shotgun attack and the club captured four of the last five games to finish in a tie for second place. Third-string quarterback Bobby Waters threw the passes that upset Baltimore, 30-22, in the final two minutes.

1961—The success of Hickey's Shotgun amazed the football world, especially the 49-0 victory over Detroit. Quarterback Bill Killmer, a passing-running rookie from U.C.L.A., was made to order for the new offense. When the Shotgun was stopped, Brodie took over again in the T and had the finest season in 49er q.b. annals. Indicating the evenness of NFL competition, the 49ers were playing for a second-place tie, plus a trip to the Runner-up Bowl at Miami, or a fifth-place position on the last day of the season. The Colts again won by three points, but 1961 must remain as one of the most exciting and interesting years in 49er history.

FORTY NINER COACHES

HOWARD W. (RED) HICKEY Head Coach

There is no set, soft pattern concerning football when Howard Wayne (Red) Hickey begins plotting the seasonal fortunes of his San Francisco 49ers.

The rugged redhead, who served his apprenticeship in the National Football League as a player and assistant coach, is a nonconformist in the deepest sense of the term. Hickey believes that in this day of intensive scouting, no team can rely on the same offensive and defensive patterns from Sunday to Sunday. That's why he came up with the fabulous Shotgun attack which forced other NFL clubs to go into new offensive maneuvers, as well as devising new defenses against the plays that departed from the traditional T formation.

Hickey began his football career at Clarksville High in Clarksville, Ark., and continued his gridiron activities at the University of Arkansas although his primary interest at the time was in a baseball career. After playing in the East-West Shrine classic at San Francisco in December, 1940, he was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Traded to the Cleveland Rams before the 1941 season began, Red played only one campaign before joining the Navy for four years as a gunnery officer. Returning to the Rams in 1945, he helped them win their first NFL championship, then moved with the club to Los Angeles in 1946. Typically, his last season as a player—1948—was one of his best as he caught 30 passes to rank with the league's top receivers.

After six seasons as an assistant coach of the Rams, he came to the 49ers as an aide to the late Norman Strader. Subsequently he served under Frank Albert and became head coach in 1959. Each of his three 49er teams has been a contender for the NFL title and his over-all record is 21 wins, 16 defeats and one tie.

Red and his wife, Celia, live in San Mateo with their three sons.

MARK DUNCAN

Assistant Coach

Mark Duncan was an assistant coach at Colorado State when, on an impulse, he dropped by the 49er office in the summer of 1955 during a vacation tour of the Pacific Coast. Several hours later he had accepted an offer to become the Club's defensive backfield coach.

The name of Duncan had become quite well known in National Football League circles, particularly after the success of such players as Jack Christiansen, Jim David, Thurman McGraw, Dale Dodrill and Don Burroughs.

Mark's early seasons with the 49ers were devoted to building up the defensive backfield. During the past two years he has been primarily concerned with the defensive linemen and linebackers. His old pupil, Christiansen, took over the instruction of the wingbacks and safetiesmen. Their combined efforts produced a defense that yielded only 205 points in 1960, best record in the NFL.

Duncan starred in football, basketball and baseball at Denver University in his native city, graduating in 1940. After Army service, he joined the physical education department at Colorado State and was head baseball coach, as well as assisting in football and basketball.

Mark lives in Hillsdale, Calif., with his wife, Alice, and three children—Gail, 20; Scott, 15, and Debra, 6.

BILL JOHNSON

Assistant Coach

San Francisco fans who followed the nine-year playing career of Bill (Tiger) Johnson, always rated him among the top centers in the game. Their confidence was justified when he was named on the All-Time Pro Bowl team by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Bill was captain of the Tyler, Texas, Junior College team that won the national title, plus the Little Rose Bowl classic in 1947. These honors followed almost three years in the Pacific with the Navy.

Signed by the 49ers primarily as a linebacker in 1948, he played very little as a rookie because of a broken wrist. But he took over the following season at offensive center and provided much of the blocking that made the 49ers noted as pro football's strongest running club in the early 1950's.

Bill and his wife, Dot, reside in Palo Alto, Calif., with their three children—Bill, Jr., 13, Sherilyn, 12, and Tommy, 5.

JACK CHRISTIANSEN

Assistant Coach

Jack Christiansen played in the National Football League with the Detroit Lions for eight seasons as a defensive halfback. For six of those seasons, Chris was named on All-Pro teams. This recognition would be sufficient to place him among the legendary giants of professional football.

But the additional testimony is noteworthy. Norm Van Brocklin, generally acclaimed as football's top quarterback and passer during the 1950-60 era, has named Chris as the best defensive back. His career figures include 46 interceptions and a 22.43 average in returning 59 kickoffs.

As a player, he was the key man in a great Detroit defensive backfield known as "Chris' Crew." Joining the 49ers as defensive backfield coach in 1959, he can now point with pride to one of the best secondaries in the league.

Jack won honors as a sprinter at Colorado State before joining the Lions in 1951. He and his wife, Doris, live in Palo Alto with their four daughters—Terri, 9; Jacki 7, and twins, Jani and Joani, 6.

BILLY WILSON

Assistant Coach

In slightly more than nine years of National Football League history, Billy Wilson engraved his name deeply into gridiron records. His nine full seasons, plus four games in 1960, show a total of 407 pass receptions—exceeded only by the 489 of Don Hutson in 11 campaigns with Green Bay.

Drafted by the 49ers in 1950 as a 21st "redshirt" choice, he joined the club in 1951 and immediately gained a place among the NFL's leading receivers. He tied for the pass receiving crown in 1955 with 53, then led in 1956 with 60 and again in 1957 with 57.

Billy, who has Sac and Fox Indian blood, was born on a reservation near Sayre, Okla. He grew up in Campbell, Calif., and served three years in the Navy before enrolling at San Jose State where he was an All-Coast performer in both football and basketball.

A perennial All-Pro choice, his biggest thrill was being named the most valuable player in the Pro Bowl of 1955. Billy and his wife, Shirley, live in Campbell with their three children—William Wynn, 8; Greg, 5, and Holly, 3.

LYNN O. WALDORF

Director of Personnel

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association and one of the most respected men in sports, Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf joined the 49er organization in 1957. Since then, he has built up a talent-scouting force second to none. His efforts have been responsible for 25 new faces on the San Francisco roster in the past three years and the 1962 crop of newcomers is rated among the finest in the club's history.

A tackle at Syracuse University in the early 1920's, he coached at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma State, Kansas State and Northwestern before taking over what he termed the "Sleeping Giant" at the University of California in 1947. Under his tutelage, the Golden Bears won three consecutive Pacific Coast Conference titles—1948-49-50—and represented the West in the annual Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena. His 10-year record at California was 66 wins, 32 losses and four ties.

One of the nation's top after-dinner speakers, Pappy is especially noted for his limitless supply of limericks. He and his wife, Louise, live in Berkeley. They have two daughters and five grandchildren.
